President's Forum

"Another year over and a new one just begun"

I hope you all had a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. Even though this is usually a break for most groups, WAWA doesn't stop.

Things continually change, and we must keep up or fall behind. I thank you all for your support throughout 2006. No matter how small, all efforts assist at an individual to a group and Association level.

Let's continue the good work into 2007.

Weekend Workshop Coordinator

I would like to gratefully thank Graham Stacey for taking on the role of the Weekend Workshop Coordinator.

Graham was honoured for his work with the Mandurah Group, at there end of year Christmas Function. He was given an Award of Merit for the work in organising there wood collection, storage and sales.

Please support Graham in his new role. Your assistance ensures not only that the weekend workshops run smoothly, but also that all the necessary information gets out on time.

Thank you again Graham. Now the show can keep going.

Webmaster

Steve Marshall has decided it is time for him to move on. I am very appreciative of the work Steve has done in updating and maintaining the WAWA website.

I am also very sad to see Steve will not be renewing his membership, and we at Wandi will miss his very informative sessions on segmented turning and his joy in making Lutes.

We wish you all the best Steve in your future ventures.

We are now seeking someone with some website experience to take over from Steve. He is happy to pass on his skills to the new Webmaster.

Brian Launer

It was upsetting to hear of the passing away of Brian Launer of the Busselton Group, on the afternoon of the 27 December 2006. I wish to pass on my condolences to Brian's wife Nancy, and their family and friends at their loss.

Most of you would have met up with Brian, at the Busselton Weekend Workshop. A great loss to both Nancy, and the Busselton Group.

February Weekend Workshop

The February workshop will see the presentation of the new constitution at a Special General Meeting, prior to the commencement on Gosnells Weekend Workshop. The revised and updated constitution has been sent to all groups and available to individual members on request.

This constitution will bring WAWA and its groups up to the requirements of the Associations Act of WA and ensure there continued smooth running.

December Christmas Weekend Workshop

A great time was had by all at the Kalamunda Agricultural Hall. Thanks to Dan Kilgallon for his help as MC and the top spinning competition organiser.

A special thanks to Jack De Vos and his presentation on the influence of nature in and on his work. The ability to turn a 75-kilo block of wood into a 1.5 kg masterpiece that was fascinating and enlightening.

Our caterers again excelled in the lunch they served. They have already been booked for next Christmas.

The Christmas Toy Collection has been renamed the Ivy Pritchard Christmas Toy Collection. This is in recognition of the fantastic contribution Ivy made to the yearly collection.

Thank you again Lach Christie in you continued work in organising and distributing the wonderful toys.

Thanks to all of you who contributed in the collecting and making of toys throughout the year. I know many have already started for this Christmas. God bless you.

The presentation of prizes for the end of year competition saw the amalgamation of the work done by those through the initial work done by George Kieliger. Thank you George and those who assisted and helped organise the weekend workshop competitions.

John Mason has offered to take on the role of the Weekend Workshop Competition Organiser for 2007. Wait and see what is in store for 2007 and beyond.

Thanks again for another great year and a greater year to come. From here, it is on and up. As the saying goes", to eat an elephant, one must eat one piece at a time"!

Shopping Centre News

The Shopping Centre Team has contributed a further $3215.00 to WAWA funds since 1st July 2006. I am pleased to see that the team is still willing to help in this way and that our efforts are resulting in more people being made aware of the Association and the clubs where they can experience the art of Woodturning.

My sincere thanks to all of you and please note the following dates in your 2007 diaries.

Gateways Shopping Centre, Success Monday 19th to Saturday the 24th February 2007.

North Beach Shopping Centre, North Beach Monday 12th to Saturday 17th March 2007.

Yours sincerely in Woodturning

Finishing

Wax

Recipe #1

Perry (468) Your prayers are answered, thanks to John Mercer (550) who is also an old bloke but didn't lose the recipe!!! I have included the recipe for everyone rather than just send it to Perry who might lose it again (Ed....no offence intended)

Recipe for Finishing Wax Polish

INGREDIENTS

Flakes of Carnauba (Carbatec or Timbecon)

Block of Beeswax. (Fremantle Markets)

Bottle of Vegetable Turpentine (Bunnings)

Place equal quantities of Flakes and Beeswax in a container, stand container in a pan of water and heat water on stove until waxes are liquid.

DO NOT ALLOW TO BOIL

When waxes are liquid add turpentine to make one of the following consistencies.

PASTE WAX: 2 turps to 1 wax

Allow mixture to cool in old baking tray or tin

When the paste mixture is cool pour into a can or small jar.

HARD BLOCK: 1 turps to one wax

Allow mixture to cool in old baking tray or tin

When the block mix hardens break it up into useable pieces.

Finishing Wax Recipe #2

We also have the following Recipe from Jim Waters (446) of a completely different version of a finishing wax so everyone gets a double bonus!!!

Recipe for wax polish as requested in last newsletter.

50 gm Carnauba wax flakes,

100ml. gum turpentine,

6 teaspoons strong shellac,

3 teaspoons talcum powder.

Melt the wax in a pan of water, add strong shellac, stir in slowly.

Stir in gum turpentine, then stir in talcum powder. Allow to cool.

UWA Friends of the Grounds

I am contacting you in the hope that some of your members, who are obviously interested in woodwork, might find the following proposal interesting.

The UWA Friends of the Grounds formed several years now to try to encourage interest in and enjoyment by the wider community in their magnificent asset - the garden and grounds of the UWA campus.

Recently we decided to undertake a program of gradually restoring the hundred or so teak Memorial park benches which are placed around the grounds. Most of these benches have been donated in memory of past graduates or faculty members. Some of these traditional benches are in need of repair and most need on-going annual oiling. From time to time new benches will be needed. We intend to contract out most of this work and are setting aside funds for this purpose.

Currently we are cataloguing and photographing all the benches. This will entail assessing their condition and establishing a program for maintenance. This is where I thought some of your retired members may be interested in assisting our group. It could also be that some of your members might be able to assist by submitting a price to repair or supply benches. We are interested in involving people in enjoying the University grounds.

Enclosed are copies of our membership brochure which features one of our benches on the cover. The UWA Friends of the Grounds meet three or four times each year. We coordinate campus walking tours, visit the University's galleries and collections, attend lectures on related subjects, and hold an annual picnic supper followed by a film at the Somerville Auditorium. Our group recently helped publish the book

I have taken up the position of Competition Co-ordinator for the Association (WAWA) Workshops for 2007.

There has been a lot of discussion and I have received considerable assistance, suggestions and advice from many members for which I am very grateful. Thank you.

The main changes are listed here.

Points Allocation

Entering an Item	2 points (unchanged)
First place	5 points, Certificate and cash
Second place	3 points and Certificate
Third place	2 points and Certificate
Fourth place	1 point as an encouragement No Certificate.

Open Competition

(Novice, Intermediate and Advanced combined)

This Competition will be given more status as it is a very important part of the year's activity.

Accumulated points in this culminate with the Keith Stout Memorial Trophy at the year's end.

Points and certificates will be awarded the same as above with the exclusion of entering points.

Promotions

This is one of the most misunderstood and contentious issues, but in my opinion, one of the most important as it rewards the promoted member without impacting on others in the higher grade.

From this year, a member will be promoted as soon as he/she achieves 3 grade wins within a three year time frame. When promoted, the member will be able to take points won into the next grade up to the number that places the promoted member 2 points behind the person currently in third place in the next grade.

In July, the member is given the option of accepting the promotion immediately or deferring it to the following year as he would have little chance of a podium position with only a few workshops yet to come.

The advantages of this method is that the member promoted is faced with new challenges in woodturning which entails additional skills, the whole purpose of the competitions ! It also has the benefit of not being detrimental to the members who have achieved the top positions in the next grade.

It could be quite a disappointment to be holding first place then suddenly be overtaken by a newly promoted member !

Any member may, at any time, promote him/herself to another level but is then unable to go back to the original level.

The popular vote will continue as before, unchanged.

It is hoped that these newly defined guidelines will encourage more members to enter the Association workshops competitions as this is the best way to improve your skills.

If any member wants any further information or clarification, please feel free to contact me.

John Mason, 1625.

Gone Cruising

Travelling Australia, particularly the Outback with our Landcruiser and tent is a passion of ours. Last year Ursula and I had the good fortune to be able to go on a four-month trip to the Eastern States. This time we went to see places we always wanted to visit but somehow never did. The trip took us via the Nullarbor to Broken Hill, Cameron Corner, Gulgong, Tenterfield, Proserpine and the Tablelands and from Birdsville via Simpson Desert to Ayers Rock, Warburton and Kalgoorlie back to Perth.

Apart from many beautiful towns with historic buildings we saw magnificent scenery, such as the Carnarvon George National Park in Queensland, the 1100 sand dunes of the Simpson Desert in South Australia, the Olgas in the Northern Territory and much more. We came across magnificent and rare trees such as the Desert Oak (Allocasuarina decaisneana) in the Red Centre, the Waddi Tree (Acacia peuce) near Birdsville, the Beefwood Tree (Grevillea striata) in the Mutawintji (Mootwingi) N.P. and a giant Red Gum (E. camaldulensis) near Mt. Isa with a circumference of 10.89 metres which was more than 500 years old.

There are many galleries and museums all over Australia, some of them good, some of them not so good. Anyway on our travels we visited lots and lots of them including State Art Galleries and Private Galleries exhibiting Paintings, Pottery, Glass, Furniture and Woodturnings.

In one of the craft galleries in the Rocks Area in Sydney I had an interesting experience. After having a good look around all the pottery, jewellery, textile art and wood turnings we talked to the lady who minded the shop for the cooperative of makers. The first thing she said to me was: are you a wood turner? When I said: yes, why, she said: I can always tell. Of course I had steered straight towards the wood turnings and this was a dead give away. She asked me would I be interested in joining the cooperative as they had lost a turner and had difficulties to find a replacement. To date I am still not sure what to make of this. Are there really not enough good turners in NSW? I declined of course. It would be too difficult to mind the shop once a week.

In another gallery I had the opportunity to see, handle and closely inspect turnings by some of the well known turners of the Eastern States including Richard Raffan: very interesting indeed.

One of the highlights of our trip (in a woodturning sense) was our visit to the Museum in Proserpine in Queensland and what followed on from it. I really think it is one of the finest country museums in Australia. It is in a purpose built building on Highway No. 1 and has an excellent display of Australiana. The most surprising thing however was that in there we found the 3.5 m turned wooden pen which I had seen in the magazine Woodturner as well as the 2.6 m diameter bowl turned from laminated Mackay Cedar; both made by the Proserpine Woodturners Group.

I had read the article by George Hatfield about the Proserpine Turnout in Woodturning No. 161 with the photos of the pen as well as of two visiting Japanese woodturners and their intriguing lathes and tool rests. I had studied those photos with the magnifying lens for a long time trying to figure out how they work and it was my plan to learn more about it one day. - My turn had come now!

In the foyer of the museum was a display with items for sale, the pens with the phone number and the name of the maker: Con Jensen. So I rang him and he invited me to come and visit next morning. As it turned out he is the driving force of the Proserpine Woodturners Group, a group of I think eight members. Con told me to drive up to his shed and meet him there. What a shed! A sugar cane farm shed about twice the size of my whole house. It contains a woodturning room with more than half a dozen lathes, a collection of motorcycle paraphernalia from a "previous life", a collection of artefacts from all over the world and a stack of timber for turning and I mean a STACK and there is still room for the cars of the family.

The Proserpine Woodturners Group put on their annual Turnout with attendees from all over Australia. During my visit I learned that to qualify for attendance you have to bring your own lathe and turn. It is not a spectator event but a very much "be in it and turn yourself affair". Even the celebrity turners who are invited don't demonstrate formally. This promotes a lot of interaction with looking over each others shoulders and discussions.

Con and I talked all morning about turning, about the local timbers such as Mackay Cedar, Black Bean, Concker Berry and more; most of them unknown to me. He showed me the lathes the group made for the Japanese turners already half dismantled, ready for a new project and he told me the story of how he found the two turners, how he organised their travel, interpreter etc. Con doesn't know the word impossible.

Further north in the Atherton Table lands we found another woodturner's delight. It is a beautiful new Gallery in the tiny place of Tolga. We were already halfway through the town when it caught Ursula's eye and I slammed on the brakes when I saw the new timber building. It houses a coffee shop and a great display of furniture, paintings woodturnings and pottery. A door connects it to the large workshop. Luck would have it that the owner had to mind the shop that morning. When I spotted the corner where he had lots of bowl blanks for sale the conversation started to revolve around the local rainforest timbers such as Black Bean, Red Lancewood, Northern Sassafras, Bloodwood etc. Of course and despite the fact that the Landcruiser was already packed to the top I could not stop myself from buying a fairly large quantity of blanks. When the owner saw my enthusiasm he went and got a piece of the hard to get Crows Apple (Owenia venosa) to give me as a farewell present. To top it all he gave me his card with his name on: Trevor Allwood.

As I write this we already have booked a flight to Switzerland to help celebrate my mother's 88th birthday in February. But there is also a well known woodturner in Lucerne, Sigi Angerer, whom I plan to visit. More about this another time.

Happy Turning – George Kieliger

News from the Groups

Bunbury

Bulletin

The 1st of November meeting was Show & Tell consisting mainly of the seven balancing clocks made during the previous month's Sunday's special meeting. Stan Zeiba in his first effort as presenter carried it off well. There was also an unusual piece by Jim Cuniffe made from a single stave of jarrah about three feet long by 1 1/2 inches square retrieved from St Patrick's cathedral, blown off its foundations during last year's storm. From this he created a base in the form of a clover-leaf with tiny shards of glass from the windows embedded in it and supporting two stylised figures of nuns and three acorns apparently symbols of St. John. A simple yet highly evocative piece of work. Another interesting item was an enormous bowl made by Hayden Matthews from an old burl that he thinks may have been river-gum and had been lying round his workshop for some years. We all know those sorts of pieces; reprieved from the fire and which we think we might have a go at. One day. Well, the day arrived for Haydn's unlikely bit and the result under his hands is, to say the least, dramatic.

. After our refreshment break where our new treasurer, Dave Roberts, in the tradition set by Stan Zeiba, provided a plate of fruit-cake, we had two demos going on: one by Toni Wilson showing the use and application of aluminium discs which, when glued to the base of the article to be turned, avoid the trouble of cutting spigots or recesses and have considerable advantages over both these methods. The other was a long-hole boring demo, given by Mick Johnson. That it was not wholly successful under even his skilled hands gave heart to those of us who have seen the drill emerge, unbidden, through the side of the piece.

The meeting on the 15th was our last meeting for this year, made necessary by the closing of the college, wherein we hold our meetings, for the end of year holidays. A fairly social night with plates of goodies in abundance which members and their wives had brought along plus a gastronomic wonder of soup, freshly made from asparagus which only hours before had been contentedly growing in George and Lorraine Parke's veggie garden.

The Show & Tell was of mainly unturned items, the exception being three perfectly turned goblets which our guest, Joe Hegney, presented. Among the other items was a delicate pencil drawing by Toni of her grandson. Another was a framed photograph of a sylvan glade, which also happened to be Tom Brixey's garden with a westering sun lighting up a tree with leaves of variegated colours in a singularly dramatic fashion. Tom also showed a vast marri burl which he had scooped out using a rotary chisel to form a huge oval dish some 2 by 1 feet. It was quite unadorned, leaving the natural pattern of the burl in its full beauty.

Then, one of our visitors, Brian Walford, from South Africa, who found us on the WAWA website and came along to see what we were up to. He gave us an interesting, impromptu, talk on his club, which is based near Natal, and seemed impressed by our practise of turning for turning's sake. It appears that the members of his club, while certainly hobbyists and trying to keep alive the craft of woodworking, also have an eye on the saleability of their work. As he put it, "If someone wants kitchen cupboards, I make kitchen cupboards. If someone wants turned table-legs, I make turned table-legs." We gained the impression that, in South Africa, woodworking as a hobby was, sadly, in decline.

To finish the evening, Joe Hegney, whom we all know and who kindly made the trip down for our meeting, gave us a demonstration. His subject was a kitchen scoop and he quickly showed us his schoolmaster's technique, honed to perfection over decades of teaching our young the art of woodwork. He demanded, and got our attention as we joined in the fun and answered his questions on technique and procedure and probably picked up a point or two on the way.

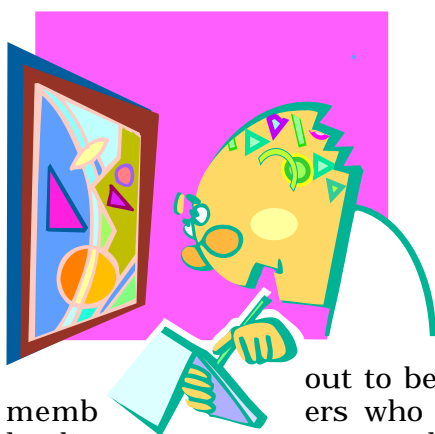

Our Xmas dinner was held in an hotel on the fringe of Bunbury's centre, renowned for its good food generously served. They did us proud with an "L"-shaped table replete with decorations for our 30+ members and their wives.

There were many faces which, through illness or disability, have become rarer at our usual meetings. In pride of place was the indomitable

No.41, Mike Kenny looking well and happy. Hammy May, no.69, plagued by indifferent health in recent years was there with his wife his ever cheerful wife, Ollie, who, with Hammy, has not enjoyed the best of health. It was also pleasing to note the attendance of Leila Wetherly whose husband, Len died the year before last. Cath Shinnick by happily established custom was also present.

Our end-of-year presentations were made by our convenor, Toni Wison, to whom most of the credit for organising the occasion must go. The award for best attendance went, as we have come to expect, to Doug Chamberlain who also shared with Ted Norrie the most Show & Tell presentations. Dave Roberts won the Most Improved Beginner award and, with acclaim, the pretigious John Shinnick Award for the most improved turner went to haydn Matthews who, unfortunately was not there to receive it. The Member of the Year award went, astonishingly, to the writer and that the members of our branch deemed him worthy to receive it is, to him, a matter of no little pride,

David Daniel.

A Letter From Busselton

The WAWA Weekend Workshop held on 18 and 19 November turned out to be just fantastic. Our members who worked hard, both leading up to the event and during the weekend, would like to thank everyone who made the effort to come to Busselton and take part in what we had to offer. The decision to have Charlie Broadbent be the one demonstrator on the Saturday was vindicated by the undivided attention the attendees gave him throughout his presentation. The Competition saw sixteen entrants submitting a Pedestal or Pot Plant Holder. The standard was very high...even though the Competition Organiser expressed disappointment at the low number of people voting. The ladies enjoyed their visit to Annie Brook Farm. A highlight of the two days was the Instant Gallery of fine woodturning of the South West with pieces displayed by members from Bunbury, Busselton, Collie and Manjimup This display attracted a lot of interest from members and visitors alike. The dinner on Saturday night was an equally enjoyable social evening, which highlighted Steve Taylor on a recent visit to the Antarctic. Finally Sunday featured Charlie Broadbent, Toni Wilson and Eric Walker solving peoples problems. All in all a great weekend and thank you everyone again.

Our 2004 – 2006 Convenor, Dennis Haddon is fast recovering from major surgery and will soon be back in full swing. Great to see you back Dennis. To misquote Mark Twain....'the rumours of his practising with his Skew Chisel are greatly exaggerated'

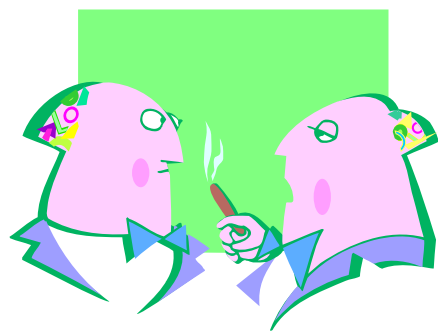

WORKSHOP ACTIVITY –the first at the meeting held on 8 November was hands-on turning between centres. The project was a 'Potato Masher' taken from an English publications published some years ago. We were staggered that some of the members originating from the 'old country' either did not know how to quickly convert imperial measurement to metric or didn't know what a 'potato masher' was!!!!. Well they now know what the Ashes are and where they belong. On 22 November we were joined by a number of a members taking a holiday in the Region following the Weekend Workshop. The hands-on project was to turn a baby rattle with as many captured rings as possible. This was great fun and thoroughly enjoyed by everyone.

The one-day workshop on Saturday 9 December 2006 was turning a small plate or platter, embellish it and then spray lacquer finish the item. Ten members attended the workshop, which started with Ray Batt giving a comprehensive demonstration on using a spray gun to lacquer a turned item. Ray was informative and delivered his subject well. As each participant finished their chosen item, Charlie Broadbent showed how to dry the very green timber with the 'flame' method or microwaving. The next step in the process was to embellish the item with the aid of a Router Trimmer, Ray Batt also helped with this aspect of the workshop by using a jig he has designed and made himself.

Our Christmas function was held on Wednesday 13 December 2006 at the Esplanade Hotel. The nineteen members and their partners who attended certainly enjoyed the night, which saw Michael Whitehead, win the most improved woodturner for 2006 and Vince Triglia receiving an award for the most number of entries in our Competitions held during the year.

Future Activities – the Program Coordinator has a program on the Notice Board giving full details of what is planned for the period to 30 April 2007. Copies of this will be available at the Groups Headquarters. However the highlight is the continuation of our one-day workshops designed to concentrate on the items and categories set down by WAWA's monthly competition and the 2007 Busselton Agricultural Show schedule. The next workshop in this series will be held at the Old Courthouse Complex on Saturday 10 February 2007 from 9.00 AM to 4.00 PM.

Scriba'

Gosnell's Gossip

The remainder of the year was taken up with turning lidded boxes during the h a n d s - o n s e s s i o n s .

This is aimed at improving skills to turn to specifications. As usual some disasters occurred but some very fine pieces made it to the competition table.

On the 15.11.06 Gordon Ward finished demonstrating his "bath tub" rough edged bowl followed by our sausage sizzle. A week later Viv and Verna Paust were visiting. What a surprise and good to see Viv make such a terrific recovery. On 29.11.06 another natural edged bowl. This time demonstrated by Rob Jones with an excellent introduction on how to use the bowl saver. Thank you to both demonstrators. It's just great to learn from you! The last session of the year was dedicated to socialising. The wives came along to "check on our progress" and there was plenty of good food and drink. Cheers and Merry Christmas

A Memo From Mandurah

Well, another year gone ! Now into 2007 and our best wishes to all members.

We have had a very busy and s u c c e s s f u l year. Looking back, we had a great time at the Mandurah Crab Fest and look forward to it again this year. A number of demonstrations at Pinjarra and a fruitful time with the wood collecting and the work that follows to block it down to useable pieces. The input from many of our members is really heartening.

The Mad Mondays at Mason's place continue to be very popular with as many as 16 members attending regularly.

The highlight of our year was the End of Year dinner at the Silver Sands

Hotel and the awarding of trophies. The trophies themselves were chisel handles made throughout the year and suitably engraved.

Association President Tony Boschman presented the following awards. (listed first to third)

Novice Accumulated points, Maurie Munro, Jim Hill, Maxine Muller.

Open Accumulated points, Buster Bailey, Tom

Callaghan, John Mason

Popular vote Accumulated points, Maurie Munro, Buster Bailey, Jim Hill

Most Improved, Bruce Jackson, Encouragement, John Lewis.

The Convenor's Perpetual Trophy was won by Jeff Tills, with Barry Granger and Peter Grainger taking out second and third.

The final official duty was presenting the Award of Merit to Graham Stacey who had worked tirelessly for the group.

A well earned break over the Festive season will end with our first meeting on January 9th.

Manjimup Matters

The Cherry Festival was a big hit again this year, the overall attendance was down this year from last year but the public did come over to the Woodturning and enjoyed the things we had on Display. Two Lathes were in use all day with Demonstrations going on from about 8:00am til 4:00pm. The weather was a very cool 37 Degees but we did get through the day, just a bit of a weight loss.

We held our Year End Windup and again this year it was a Bar-B-Q and was enjoyed by all that could attend, the Sausage Sizzle was one of the best we have had, Hope there are more to come.

Our first meeting for the year 2007 will be on 24th of Jan and this will see us having a busy-bee to complete the shelving for the storeroom and give us a place to put our wood. All of our members are ask to bring along some tools and hands to use them with, Many hands make light work.

We here in Manjimup would like to wish you all a very good new year to come and hope you will stay safe and sound for many more years to come. Happy Turning and love one another.

Our demonstration program for this period was shortened so that we could make a concerted effort to increase our toy making.

On 8th November Joe Hegney demonstrated how to make a scoop as usual Joes' demo was well prepared and he always attempts to involve the group by raising points of discussion on the way he is proceeding with the turning and seeking alternative methods from us. The general result of Joes' approach is that we all learn something which is of course his purpose.

The next 4 weeks were turned over to toymaking and the group aided by a great deal of preparatory work organized by Norm Gratte and his helpers were able to produce approximately 172 wooden toys. The toys ranged from pull along animals, bulldozers etc. to tops, cots and hobbyhorses and all involved enjoyed the exercise.

On the 13th December Bernie Dixon showed us how he turns scent bottles of an eastern appearance with slender finial lids. Bernie turns these bottles very easily and his use of a round piece of McJing steel sharpened to a point on 3 sides gives him a good and quick finish to the scent bottle.

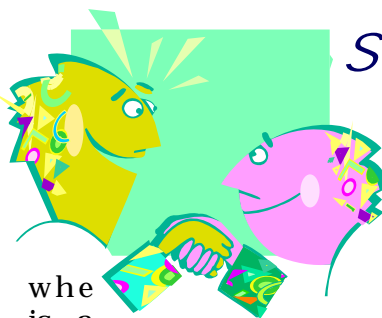

The final event of the year was our Annual Xmas lunch held at the RAAF Association restaurant in Bullcreek which was attended by 75 members and wives. We had 5 guests - WAWA President Tony Boschman, Truus Botman, Penny Smith and our guest speaker Dennis Jensen (Federal Member for Tangney) and his wife Sue.

The lunch was very good and was followed by a very informative talk by Dennis on our likely Nuclear powered future. Dennis as a physicist was able to speak with some authority on the subject and his talk was most interesting.

Best wishes and a Happy New Year to all

Swan Snippets

and varied are the display booths. We had our usual spot, beneath the trees, with 3 lathes running. Over the 2 days we had 7 turners including our youngest member, Jason. Although the weather was inclement the shavings piled up, there was much interest from the public and sales were improved on last year.

We were fortunate to have Keith McQueen demonstrate a "guess what" item, in sandalwood, on 7 November. No one guessed the answer (the prize being the item itself) - a goblet shaped piece, with base, for holding spoons in slots cut with a hole saw. Once the spoons have been used they are placed in the goblet part of the piece. A unique design indeed!

On Saturday 11 November our group supported the Gumnuts Centre Spring Festival, at our usual Gumnuts venue. Chris Allen, Richard Barkman, Jim Hanney, Eric Walker and Ted S-W demonstrated some simple turning ideas, we had a display of our Christmas toys and some items for sale. The festival included worm farming, a hands on compost making session and an African drumming workshop. We felt it was a successful public relations event.

Our November monthly evening meeting consisted of hands-on - Eric Walker covered aspects of bowl turning and Joe Clark spindle work, with coves & beads. The difficulty with such an evening is achieving a balance when there is such a wide variation in the skills of members. A competition type of hands-on evening seems to work better.

Continuing our Tuesday afternoon meetings we held a "jigs & things" demonstration by members. Chris Allen showed a steady made from MDF with mini-skateboard wheels (Swan group drawing plan 015). Keith McQueen showed his oval frame-cutting jig, a ball-cutting jig with a special mount for the chisel, the cutting tools and jig for grooves in spheres and several other items. Joe Clark's items included a jig for holding an aluminium disc, a gauge for measuring the diameter of a screw chuck, and a hand-made, large compass. Bob Nichol's ideas included a box of jigs made from wood off-cuts, his gauge for measuring wall-thickness of a bowl or hollow form and a number 2 Morse taper jig threaded at the work-surface end to take a scroll chuck. This allows the item being turned to be held in the tailstock, brought up to a wooden face plate, fixed to this with hot melt glue and the bottom then to be cleaned up. Jim Hanney had another jig to clean up the bottom of a bowl made from MDF, 4 pieces of pine and using hot melt glue. He also showed a all cutting jig made from a hole saw, a wooden tool rest post with a metal insert to rest the tool against and a sanding disc, velcro-backed, made from a truck tyre valve. John Attwater had a jig to hold a ball to be cut into a puzzle and some home made Tunbridge ware. Richard Barkman showed his depth-adjusting jig for tools to be ground using the Tru-Grind system. These different jigs and so on clearly show the ingenuity of the members. 1 and 1/2 hours simply flew by!

This was followed on 12 December by a presentation of different methods of tool sharpening, the most impressive (and expensive) being the Tormek system, showed by Don Clarke. This included their new gauge for quickly setting the tool projection and angle to achieve the same bevel time and again. Noel Moyes, our convenor, demonstrated a simple desk clock on the evening of 12 December. He showed a clever use of the base of the clock as the jam chuck for cleaning up the end of the clock's body and the method of drilling the hole centrally and at centre height to fit the body to the base.

Our final Tuesday afternoon of the year was by Jim Hanney who demonstrated some "wearable" wood items (cf Terry Martin in Australian Wood Review #22). The items included chatter work, in-lays and turning off-centre designs in the surface of a broach or pendant. All in all we have had a most successful year and look forward to much more to come in 2007.

How to produce a bit of banter and lots of laughter!!!! Have an open competition on producing the thinnest length of wood on a lathe without it breaking.

Following Rod Cock's guidance on 'what to do', most lathes and mouths were active during the night's proceedings. The prize, a 'triton cap', went unanimously to Frank Rossi.

November's demonstration night was held by Jack Pallas whose fingers and tools were in action as he created a bowl from 'wet' Banksia. Despite shavings spewing forcefully across the room and patrons ejecting themselves from out of reach of cascading projectiles, it was an absolute pleasure to observe. I watched, green with envy, at the ease at which the piece of wood was transformed swiftly into a bowl. More insight was provided into drying techniques, with a blow torch used to hasten the process.

The Christmas windup was a fantastic success. Jack de Vos provided the appetizer, displaying some of his excellent masterpieces. Highlighting the use of nature for obtaining inspiration for his works, his speech and DVD were an absolute delight. Rod Cock was presented with a well deserved 'Certificate of Merit' award for his endless contributions to the development and operations of the Wandi group. A delightful banquet and much chatter followed.

The women's group is flourishing with yet another new member, Hazel, joining the ranks. Skills are maturing nicely with the effervescent encouragement from Alan and Marie.

Bereavements

Vale Brian Launer

The woodturning community lost one of its great participants and supporters with the sudden death of Brian Launer

Brian joined the Association in February, 1986, member no 81, and during his 20 years of membership, he made a significant contribution to woodturning in Western Australia. In addition, some of his worked featured in competitions in the Eastern States.

Brian, with his natural skills and attention to detail, was always willing to demonstrate at week end workshops and assist others in their problem solving.

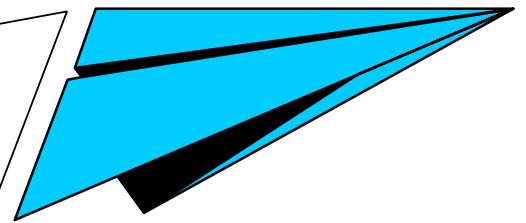

In 1987, Brian was one of the founders of the Busselton Group, and he organised weekend workshops for that centre.

Brian served on the Committee of Management for four years and he was instrumental in having Del Stubbs, our first international turner, visit us in the West.

Brian, who had been honoured with an Award of Merit for his contribution to the Association, will be missed by us all.

Our sympathy to Life Member Nancy, on her sad loss.
